Reasons for Allowance

1. Claims 1-8, 11-17, 19-20 are allowed. The cited prior arts taken alone or in combination fail to teach a method for tracing an instrumented program, and a system for tracing the instrumented program, as recited in the manner in the independent Claims 1 and 13 respectively.

Examiner has relied on the references of record:

Prior art of record, Tamches, "Fine-Grained Dynamic Instrumentation of Commodity Operating System Kernels", where Tamches' teaching includes tracing instrumented programs in a kernel space, using Dprobes, and loading code patch when encountering instrument points.

However, Applicants have traversed the reference of record. See the Applicant's remarks (filed on 05/15/07). Particularly, Applicants has amended the claims included with searching a look-up table using a program counter value, and contended that Tamches' teaching is only the use of hash table that does not equivalent to look-up table in the claims (Remarks: p.6-7).
